Simple to use, extremely safe and very affordable, evo-day gives you the beautiful smile you deserve!

How long do I have to wear the trays?

We recommend a minimum of one hour per day. For best results they can be worn for up to three hours.

How white will my teeth become?

This depends on the cause of your tooth discolouration. If you follow your dentists advice, you should see significant improvement.

Will my teeth look too white?

No, natural teeth rarely look too white. However, dental crowns and veneers can as they are made of porcelain. evo-day will return the colour of your teeth to their natural lustre.

Will my fillings, crowns or veneers change colour?

No, but some of these may need to be changed to match the new shade of your teeth.

Are there side effects and will it hurt?

You may experience tooth sensitivity which won't last longer than the treatment time. This is normal and will not damage your teeth.

Is it safe?

Completely. Millions of teeth whitening procedures have been carried out without any major complications. The safety of the materials used in evo-day has been confirmed through the European Scientific Safety Commission.

How long does it take?

Once your dentist has given you your trays, you can use them every day for two weeks. If your teeth are particularly dark to start with, your dentist may recommend a longer course of treatment.

Why is evo-day better than other whitening systems?

evo-day is temperature stabilised, this means its super fresh and neutral in acidity. evo-day is all about getting great, long-lasting results with minimal maintenance. It is convenient to use and manufactured by the global leader in teeth whitening - Enlighten.

How often will I need to top-up?

Most patients will top up once a day every two or three months, however your dentist may design a top-up regime specifically for you. The cost is normally lower than initial treatment. Your dentist can also recommend a whitening toothpaste as an aid to stain removal.
